

PERSONAL LEAVE POLICY SAMPLE

APRIL 2023

ABOUT TRUCKING HR CANADA

As a national, non-profit organization, Trucking HR Canada advances modern HR solutions for the trucking and logistics workforce. One of our strategic priorities is to make a company's job easier by delivering a comprehensive collection of up-to-date guides, reports, templates and more to support effective human resource management, recruitment and retention efforts.

Visit truckinghr.com to find out more.

DISCLAIMER

The information contained within does not constitute legal advice. Trucking HR Canada, and all content contributors, bear no responsibility for any circumstances arising out of or related to the adoption, or decision not to adopt, any of the recommendations contained in this document.

WANT MORE?

Visit the HR Resource Library on Trucking HR Canada's website for up to date, practical HR management guides and tools designed specifically for trucking and logistics employers.

PURPOSE

At [\[Company Name\]](#) we recognize there are times where an employee requires time off for personal reasons that are not related to personal illness or injury. To accommodate these situations, the Company aligns with Personal Leave legislation that is defined by the Canada Labour Code.

Alternatively, there may be times when an employee has a need for extended personal time off that cannot be provided for under a legislated leave or covered by their annual vacation entitlement.

The purpose of this policy is to outline the procedures and conditions for Personal Leave in the following categories:

1. Personal Leave – Legislated
2. Extended Personal Leave – Non-legislated

SCOPE

This policy applies to all full-time and part-time employees of [\[Company Name\]](#).

PROCEDURES

1. Personal Leave – Legislated

Federally regulated employees are entitled to personal leave of up to 5 days each calendar year. For employees who have completed 3 consecutive months with [\[Company Name\]](#), the first 3 days of personal leave are paid and the remaining 2 are unpaid.

It is important to note that Personal Leave under the Canada Labour Code does not include reasons related to personal illness or injury. Absences related to personal illness or injury are covered under the Company Medical Leave Policy.

Personal Leave can be taken based on an employee's need to accommodate the following:

- take care of health obligations or care for any member of your family,
- take care of obligations related to the education of any family member under age 18,
- manage any urgent situation that concerns you or a family member, and
- attend your citizenship ceremony under the Citizenship Act.

Additional Considerations

- Once you are aware of the need to take personal leave, please advise your [\[manager/supervisor, HR Rep\]](#) as soon as possible.
- You can take this leave over more than 1 period, however the Company requires that each period be at least [\[insert 1 day or ½ day\]](#) in duration.
- [\[Company Name\]](#) may also request, in writing, that you provide supporting documents related to your reasons for taking the leave. We will request this documentation within 15 days of your return to work and only if it is reasonably practical for you to provide it.
- For those employees that are eligible for paid leave (i.e., completed 3 months of consecutive employment with the Company), and whose salary varies from one day to another or receives pay on a basis other than an hourly rate, will receive the average of their daily earnings, exclusive of overtime hours, for the 20 days they have worked immediately preceding the first day of leave.

2. Extended Personal Leave – Non-Legislated

There may be times when employees require extended time off that cannot be covered by their annual vacation entitlement or any legislated leave.

Reasons for extended personal leave may include:

- Completing an educational program
- Relocating provinces
- Extended travel for personal reasons
- Family care responsibilities

An employee must initiate the personal leave request, in writing, to their [\[supervisor/manager/department head\]](#) [supervisor/manager/department head]. The minimum advance notice given to the Company should be [\[XX weeks\]](#). This will allow the business enough time to consider the request and plan for the employee's extended absence.

When the request is received, the Company may:

- approve the request
- approve the request but defer the leave
- deny the request

The leave of absence must be approved by [\[insert position names of any approval levels required\]](#).

The employee will be notified in writing that their request has been approved, deferred or denied. If the request is deferred or denied, an explanation will be provided to the employee.

[Company Name] will evaluate all applications based on consistent criteria to ensure employees are treated in a fair and equitable manner. When a personal leave is approved, the terms of the leave will be documented and signed by both the employee and the manager.

On occasion, two or more employees may request leaves at the same time. If the Company is not able to accommodate all requests, efforts will be made to work out a suitable alternative schedule with all parties involved.

Once the personal leave is approved, the manager will notify Payroll/ HR. They will in turn take the appropriate action to temporarily stop the employee's salary and provide them with detailed information about the effects of their personal leave on their pay and any related benefits or insurances.

Additional Considerations

- Employees may apply for a personal leave for a period of up to [X months].
- Personal leave from [Company Name] is unpaid.
- Approval of personal leave is discretionary. The manager may approve or deny the leave after considering the effects of the employee's absence on the operational requirements of the organization.
- [Company Name] will attempt to keep the position open for the employee when they return. However, it must be understood that a personal leave is not protected by law and the employee will not be entitled to the guarantee of returning to their job after personal leave.
- While an employee is on leave, their position may be filled with acting or temporary staff or left vacant.
- This is a leave without pay and at no cost to the Company. An employee has the option of discontinuing benefits or maintaining all benefits coverage throughout the leave period at their own expense.
- The employee does not accrue vacation during the personal leave of absence period.

POLICY REVIEW

[Company Name] will review this policy as deemed necessary based on business or legislative change requirements, or no less than once every three years.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I acknowledge that I have read and understand the Personal Leave Policy. I agree to comply with this Policy and its guiding principles.

Name (Print):

Signature:

Date:

Effective Date:

Revision Date:

PREPARED BY:

104-720 Belfast Road
Ottawa ON K1G 0Z5

FUNDING PROVIDED BY:

